28

1 Pursuant to Rule 23(e) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Lead Counsel
2 Saxena White P.A. and Bernstein Litowitz Berger & Grossmann LLP (“Lead 3 Counsel”) respectfully request that the Court grant their motion for (i) an award of 4 attorneys’ fees in the amount of 30% of the Settlement Fund; (ii) payment of 5 $104,686.68 in litigation expenses that Lead Counsel reasonably and necessarily 6 incurred in prosecuting and resolving the Action; and (iii) payment of awards 7 totaling $8,892.01 to Lead Plaintiffs to reimburse them for the value of the time their 8 employees devoted the Action, as authorized by the PSLRA.<sup>1</sup>

9 I. INTRODUCTION

10 Through its effective advocacy and tireless efforts over the past two years, 11 Lead Counsel achieved a Settlement of $18.25 million in cash for the benefit of the 12 Settlement Class. Lead Counsel undertook this litigation on a fully contingent 13 basis—without any guarantee of compensation or reimbursement of expenses. Lead 14 Counsel devoted thousands of hours of attorney and staff time to achieve this 15 Settlement, all the while recognizing the risk that the Class may recover nothing and 16 Lead Counsel may never receive any compensation.

17 The prosecution and settlement of this litigation required extensive efforts on 18 the part of counsel over the past two years. Among other things, Lead Counsel 19 (a) conducted a thorough investigation, which included interviewing over five dozen 20 potential witnesses, reviewing and analyzing Merit’s public SEC filings, conference 21 call transcripts, and media reports, and conducting legal research on key issues in 22 the case; (b) drafted a 98-page consolidated complaint replete with detailed witness

23 _____
24 <sup>1</sup> Lead Plaintiffs respectfully refer the Court to the accompanying Joint Declaration
25 of David R. Kaplan and Jonathan D. Uslaner in Support of Lead Plaintiffs’ Motion 26 for Final Approval of Class Action Settlement and Plan of Allocation, and Lead 27 Counsel’s Motion for Attorneys’ Fees and Litigation Expenses (“Joint Declaration” 28 or “Joint Decl.”) for a detailed description of the case and the Settlement. Unless otherwise noted, capitalized terms have the meanings set forth in the Stipulation and Agreement of Settlement, dated December 21, 2021 (ECF No. 105-1, the “Stipulation”), all emphasis has been added, and all internal citations and quotation marks have been omitted.

1 accounts necessary to satisfy the stringent pleading standards governing securities
2 actions; (c) defeated Defendants’ motion to transfer the case to the District of Utah; 3 (d) thoroughly researched, briefed and defeated Defendants’ motion to dismiss 4 twice—both before Magistrate Judge Autumn D. Spaeth, and again before this 5 Court; (e) conducted extensive discovery, including obtaining over a half-million of 6 pages of documents from Defendants and five non-parties; and (f) successfully 7 negotiated a favorable Settlement for the benefit of the Settlement Class far in excess 8 of the typical recovery rate in comparable securities class actions, under the 9 supervision of an independent mediator.

10 The Settlement achieved through the efforts of Lead Counsel is a particularly 11 favorable result when considered in light of the significant risks confronted in the 12 litigation, including challenges related to proving Defendants’ liability and 13 establishing loss causation and damages. First, this case was prosecuted under the 14 PSLRA and, therefore, was extremely risky and difficult from the outset, as the 15 PSLRA makes it difficult for investors to bring and successfully conclude securities 16 class actions. Moreover, this was a case in which there was no parallel government 17 or SEC action and no restatement of the Company’s financial statements that would 18 have assisted Lead Counsel in establishing the elements of Lead Plaintiffs’ claims.
19 On the contrary, Lead Counsel faced substantial risks in establishing all of the 20 elements of Lead Plaintiffs’ claims, including the falsity and materiality of 21 Defendants’ alleged misstatements, loss causation, and damages. In the face of these 22 considerable risks, Lead Counsel vigorously pursued this Action on a contingent 23 basis with no guarantee of any recovery at all.

24 Lead Counsel’s fee request of 30% is consistent with the “norm” for 25 percentage fee awards in common fund cases. See In re Allergan, Inc. Proxy
26 Violation Derivatives Litig., 2018 WL 4959014, at *1 (C.D. Cal. Aug. 13, 2018)
27 (Carter, J.) (noting that a 30% award is “the norm” in the Ninth Circuit and granted 28

1 “in most common fund cases”). Courts in the Central District, including this Court, 2 often award percentage fees of 30% or higher in comparable securities class actions.
3 The reasonableness of Lead Counsel’s fee request is also supported by a lodestar 4 cross-check, which yields a modest multiplier of 1.4. Lead Counsel also seek 5 $104,686.68 for their litigation expenses, and respectfully move for $8,892.01 6 pursuant to 15 U.S.C. §78u-4(a)(4) for time and expenses incurred by Lead Plaintiffs 7 in their representation of the Settlement Class.

8 Additionally, Lead Plaintiffs—sophisticated fiduciaries that collectively
9 manage over $3 billion in assets and who were closely involved in the prosecution 10 and settlement of the Action—have reviewed and fully endorse this motion. And, 11 while the deadline for Settlement Class Members to object to the requested 12 attorneys’ fees has not yet passed, thus far no objections to the fee or expense 13 requests have been lodged.

14 For these reasons, and as set forth in more detail below, Lead Counsel 15 respectfully request that the Court approve this motion.

16 II. THE REQUESTED FEE IS REASONABLE

17 A. A Reasonable Percentage of the Fund Is the Appropriate Method 18 for Awarding Attorneys’ Fees in Common Fund Cases

19 For their efforts in creating a common fund for the benefit of the Settlement 20 Class, Lead Counsel seek a reasonable percentage of the fund recovered as 21 attorneys’ fees. The percentage method of awarding fees has become the prevailing 22 method for awarding fees in common fund cases in this Circuit and throughout the 23 nation.

24 The Supreme Court has long recognized that “a litigant or a lawyer who 25 recovers a common fund for the benefit of persons other than himself or his client is 26 entitled to a reasonable attorney’s fee from the fund as a whole.” Boeing Co. v. Van 27 Gemert, 444 U.S. 472, 478-79 (1980). Similarly, the Ninth Circuit has held that “a 28 private plaintiff, or his attorney, whose efforts create, discover, increase or preserve

1 a fund to which others also have a claim is entitled to recover from the fund the costs
2 of his litigation, including attorneys’ fees.” Vincent v. Hughes Air West, Inc., 557 3 F.2d 759, 769 (9th Cir. 1977). The purpose of the common fund doctrine is to 4 adequately compensate class counsel for services rendered and to ensure that all 5 class members contribute equally towards the costs associated with the litigation. In 6 re Wash. Pub. Power Supply Sys. Sec. Litig., 19 F.3d 1291, 1300 (9th Cir. 1994) 7 (“those who benefit from the creation of the fund should share the wealth with the 8 lawyers whose skill and effort helped create it”).

9 In Blum v. Stenson, 465 U.S. 886 (1984), the Supreme Court recognized that 10 under the common fund doctrine a reasonable fee may be based “on a percentage of 11 the fund bestowed on the class.” Id. at 900 n.16. While courts have discretion to 12 employ either a percentage-of-recovery or lodestar method in determining an 13 attorneys’ fee award, see In re Bluetooth Headset Prods. Liab. Litig., 654 F.3d 935, 14 942-43 (9th Cir. 2011), the Ninth Circuit has expressly and consistently approved 15 the use of the percentage method in common fund cases. See Vizcaino v. Microsoft 16 Corp., 290 F.3d 1043, 1050 (9th Cir. 2002) (“the primary basis of the fee award 17 remains the percentage method”); Hanlon v. Chrysler Corp., 150 F.3d 1011, 1029 18 (9th Cir. 1998); Torrisi v. Tucson Elec. Power Co., 8 F.3d 1370, 1376-77 (9th Cir.
19 1993). Indeed, the percentage method “is typically used where attorney’s fees will 20 be paid out of a common fund.” Cheng Jiangchen v. Rentech, Inc., 2019 WL 21 5173771, at *5 (C.D. Cal. Oct. 10, 2019).

22 The percentage-of-recovery method is particularly appropriate in common 23 fund cases where, as here, “the benefit to the class is easily quantified.” Bluetooth, 24 654 F.3d at 942. Further, as this Court has explained, “[t]here are significant benefits 25 to the percentage approach, including consistency with contingency fee calculations 26 in the private market, aligning the lawyers’ interests with achieving the highest 27 award for the class members, and reducing the burden on the courts that a complex 28

1 lodestar calculation requires.” Vinh Nguyen v. Radiant Pharm. Corp., 2014 WL 2 1802293, at *9 (C.D. Cal. May 6, 2014) (Carter, J.).

3       Lead Counsel requests an award of attorneys’ fees consistent with the Ninth 4 Circuit “norm” of 30%, including in securities litigation. See Allergan, 2018 WL 5 4959014, at *1 (noting that a 30% award is “the norm” in the Ninth Circuit); Schulein
6 v. Petroleum Dev. Corp., 2015 WL 12762256, at *1 (C.D. Cal. Mar. 16, 2015)
7 (same); Burnthorne-Martinez v. Sephora USA, Inc., 2018 WL 5310833, at *2 (N.D.
8 Cal. May 16, 2018) (same); Ford v. CEC Ent. Inc., 2015 WL 11439033, at *5 (S.D.
9 Cal. Dec. 14, 2015) (same); Pokorny v. Quixtar, Inc., 2013 WL 3790896, at *1 (N.D.
10 Cal. July 18, 2013) (same); see also Cunha v. Hansen Nat. Corp., 2015 WL 11 12697627, at *6 (C.D. Cal. Jan. 29, 2015) (“[A]bsent extraordinary circumstances 12 that suggest reasons to lower or increase the percentage, the rate should be set at 13 30%.”).

14       As discussed below, the relevant factors and pertinent case law strongly 15 support Lead Counsel’s requested fee.

16       B. The Relevant Factors Support Approval of the 30% Fee Request

17       In awarding an attorneys’ fee from a common fund, the Court must determine 18 whether the requested fee would be reasonable. The Ninth Circuit has stated that a 19 25% fee is the benchmark attorneys’ fee for class actions, which may be adjusted up 20 or down depending on the circumstances of each case. Vizcaino, 290 F.3d at 1048.
21 Several Courts in this District, including this Court, have found that “in most 22 common fund cases, the [fee] award exceeds that benchmark, with a 30% award the 23 norm absent extraordinary circumstances that suggest reasons to lower or increase 24 the percentage.” Allergan, 2018 WL 4959014, at *1; see also Rentech, 2019 WL
25 5173771, at *10-11 (awarding 33 1/3 % of the Settlement Fund); Patel v. Axesstel, 26 Inc., 2015 WL 6458073, at *8 (S.D. Cal. Oct. 23, 2015) (awarding 30% fees in a 27 securities fraud class action based on “the complexity of securities litigation, the 28

1 lodestar crosscheck, and the lack of any objection from the class members”).
2 Consistent with these authorities, Lead Counsel request the “norm” fee percentage 3 of 30%. The fee request is squarely within the range of percentages courts in this 4 Circuit award in similar securities fraud class action settlements, and highly 5 reasonable given the favorable result achieved for the Settlement Class.

6 Moreover, the attorneys’ fee request is fair and reasonable in light of the 7 relevant factors, including: (i) the results achieved; (ii) the risk of litigation; (iii) the 8 skill required and the quality of work; (iv) the contingent nature of the fee and the 9 financial burden carried; and (v) awards made in similar actions. Vizcaino, 290 F.3d 10 at 1048-50. The Ninth Circuit has explained that these factors should not be used as 11 a rigid checklist or weighed individually, but, rather, should be evaluated in light of 12 the totality of the circumstances. Id. As set forth below, all of the Vizcaino factors 13 militate in favor of approving the requested fee.

14 1. The Results Achieved

15 As discussed, the result achieved—the creation of a settlement fund in the 16 amount of $18,250,000—is an excellent result for the Settlement Class that was 17 achieved despite many complexities and risks, while avoiding the substantial 18 expense, delay, risk, and uncertainty of continued discovery, motion practice, class 19 certification, summary judgment, trial, and appeal.

20 Furthermore, Lead Plaintiffs’ realistic assessment based on the evidence and 21 extensive consultation with financial experts is that the maximum realistic damages 22 range from $33.4 million to $153.0 million. Thus, the Settlement represents a 23 favorable recovery of 12% to 55% of the Settlement Class’s maximum realistic trial 24 damages—a range that far exceeds the typical recovery rate in securities class 25 actions. See, e.g., In Re Snap Inc. Sec. Litig., 2021 WL 667590, at *1 (C.D. Cal.
26 Feb. 18, 2021) (noting that a settlement representing approximately 7.8% of 27 damages was “similar to the percent recovered in other court-approved securities 28

1 settlements”); Rentech, 2019 WL 5173771, at *9 (“median recovery in securities 2 class actions in 2018 was approximately 2.6% of estimated damages”); see also 3 Cornerstone Research, Securities Class Action Settlements—2020 Review and 4 Analysis (Cornerstone Research 2021) at p. 6, Figure 5 (empirical study finding 5 4.9% median recovery rate in securities class action settlements between 2011-6 2019). Settlement Class Members will thus enjoy the significant benefit of the 7 Settlement now, without the risk of no recovery. Considering the substantial $18.25 8 million all-cash recovery, complexities and uncertainties of this case (discussed 9 further below), and the present and time value of money, the Settlement presents an 10 exceptional result and warrants approval of Lead Counsel’s fee request.

11 2. The Litigation was Risky and Complex

12 “The risk that further litigation might result in Plaintiffs not recovering at all, 13 particularly a case involving complicated legal issues, is a significant factor in the 14 award of fees.” Rentech, 2019 WL 5173771, at *9. While courts have always 15 recognized that securities class actions carry significant risks, post-PSLRA rulings 16 make it clear that the risk of no recovery has increased significantly. As one court 17 in this District aptly explained:

18 By their very nature, securities class actions ... involve complex legal 19 and factual issues. ... To succeed in this litigation, Plaintiffs would have 20 been required to prove falsity, scienter, reliance and loss causation on 21 the part of Defendants, which would be by no means guaranteed. ...
22 Moreover, both sides’ arguments on loss causation and establishing 23 damages at trial would have relied heavily on expert testimony, with no guarantee of whose testimony the factfinder would credit.

24 Brown v. China Integrated Energy Inc., 2016 WL 11757878, at *7 (C.D. Cal. July 25 22, 2016); see also, e.g., Hefler v. Wells Fargo & Co., 2018 WL 6619983, at *13 26 (N.D. Cal. Dec. 18, 2018) (“[I]n general, securities actions are highly complex and 27 . . . securities class litigation is notably difficult and notoriously uncertain”). This 28

1 Action was no exception.

2 There is no question that this Action presented numerous contested issues and 3 formidable defenses to liability and damages. Throughout the litigation and in 4 settlement discussions, Defendants have adamantly denied liability and asserted 5 various defenses on materiality, falsity, scienter, and loss causation. Defendants 6 would also certainly contest any damage calculations presented by Lead Plaintiffs.
7 Any one of the foregoing issues, if they were decided in Defendants' favor, could 8 have ended Lead Plaintiffs' case, or at the very least, severely curtailed any prospects 9 for a recovery.

10 Lead Plaintiffs also recognize that evidence produced in discovery may be 11 susceptible to different interpretations. Principally, Lead Plaintiffs and Lead 12 Counsel understood that the upcoming class certification motion practice, as well as 13 summary judgment motion practice and trial (assuming the case was certified) would 14 lead to a difficult and highly uncertain determinations for the Court or jury on issues 15 of materiality, falsity, and scienter, and a difficult and contested "battle of the 16 experts" on issues of loss causation and damages. The Court or the jury might not 17 agree with Lead Plaintiffs that the evidence demonstrated that Defendants made any 18 materially false and misleading statements (for example, that Defendant 19 Lampropoulos's statement that Merit "maintained" Cianna's sales force was 20 rendered false or misleading by the departure of four salespersons). Moreover, even 21 if the Court or jury were to agree with Lead Plaintiffs that the alleged misstatements 22 were actionably false or misleading, the Court or jury could have found that such 23 statements did not cause the class's losses. And, even if successful at trial, Plaintiffs 24 would still face the risk of an unfavorable ruling in a dispositive post-trial motion or 25 a reversal on appeal.

26 Nor did Lead Plaintiffs benefit from other advantages securities class action 27 plaintiffs frequently have. In particular, Lead Counsel developed the case without 28

1 the benefit of a governmental investigation. See, e.g., In re Hi-Crush Partners L.P.
2 Sec. Litig., 2014 WL 7323417, at *16 (S.D.N.Y. Dec. 19, 2014) (“Lead Counsel did 3 not have the benefit of a ‘road map’ established by a government investigation off 4 which they could ‘piggy back’, but instead independently developed factual
5 allegations and legal theories sufficient to survive the PSLRA’s heightened pleading 6 standards”). Additionally, there were no financial restatements, accounting 7 irregularities, internal investigations, executive departures, short-seller or other 8 investigative reports, or SEC charges that would illuminate a theory of the case and 9 set out key evidence. Nor was there an SEC whistleblower who could be counted 10 on to cooperate with Lead Plaintiffs and explain to the jury why Defendants’ conduct 11 was fraudulent. And, as a further obstacle to Lead Plaintiffs’ successful prosecution 12 of the Action, not only did the Cianna and ClariVein acquisitions collectively 13 perform fairly close to the Company’s revenue guidance during the Class Period, 14 Defendants would likely have argued that their favorable post-Class Period sales 15 performance further undermined Lead Plaintiffs’ allegations of pervasive integration 16 failures and entrenched regulatory and insurance roadblocks.

17 Substantial risks and uncertainties in this type of litigation and in this case in 18 particular made it far from certain that any recovery, let alone a $18.25 million 19 recovery, would ultimately be obtained. This factor strongly supports the requested 20 award.

21 3. The Skill Required and the Quality of Lead Counsel’s 22 Work Performed Support the Fee Request

23 In determining a reasonable fee, courts often consider the quality of the work 24 performed by counsel and the skill required in the action. “The prosecution and 25 management of a complex national class action requires unique legal skills and 26 abilities. This is particularly true in securities cases because the Private Securities 27 Litigation Reform Act makes it much more difficult for securities plaintiffs to get 28 past a motion to dismiss.” Rentech, 2019 WL 5173771, at *10.

1 Here, Lead Counsel are nationally known in the fields of securities class 2 actions and complex litigation. See Joint Decl. Ex. D (Saxena White firm resume at 3 Ex. 4) and Ex. E (BLB&G Firm Resume at Ex. 3). Moreover, the record shows that 4 this litigation is highly complex, involving thorny, and often unresolved, legal issues 5 and difficult assembly of proof. Among the many issues on which the parties do not 6 agree are: (i) whether Defendants made any false or misleading statements; 7 (ii) whether any of the challenged statements were material to investors; (iii) whether 8 Defendants acted with scienter; (iv) the method for determining whether the price of 9 Merit common stock was artificially inflated during the Class Period; (v) the amount 10 (if any) of such inflation; and (vi) the amount of damages (if any) that could be 11 recovered at trial.

12 From the outset of this case, Lead Counsel sought to obtain the maximum 13 recovery for the class. Lead Counsel devoted substantial amounts of attorney and 14 staff time, as well as their own money and other considerable resources in the 15 vigorous prosecution of this matter. See Joint Decl. at ¶¶ 77-79, 81.

16 As a result of Lead Counsel’s work, the Settlement Class was able to plead 17 detailed allegations based on an extensive pre-suit investigation;<sup>2</sup> successfully 18 oppose Defendants’ motion to transfer to the District of Utah despite the fact that the 19 Company, the Individual Defendants, and rest of Merit’s executive management 20 team are located there; successfully defeat Defendants’ motion to dismiss, despite 21 the PSLRA’s heightened pleading (prevailing twice, once before this Court and once 22

23 <sup>2</sup> The fruits of Lead Counsel’s extraordinarily thorough pre-suit investigation were 24 cited favorably by the Court in multiple decisions in the Action, including the 25 Court’s Order denying Defendants’ motion to transfer and Order substantially 26 denying Defendants’ motion to dismiss. See ECF No. 49 at 4-6 (citing the 27 convenience of non-party witnesses located in California and Lampropoulos’s 28 Newport Beach house in denying transfer); ECF No. 72 at 6, 9, 18-19, 25-26 (citing testimony from former Cianna and Vascular Insights employees in substantially denying Defendants’ motion to dismiss).

1 before Magistrate Judge Spaeth); work with experts and consultants to present strong 2 counterarguments to Defendants’ positions on loss causation and damages; engage 3 in meaningful fact discovery including obtaining a half-million pages of documents 4 from Defendants and five subpoenaed non-parties; engage in a lengthy mediation 5 process that involved a full-day, in-person mediation and approximately six weeks 6 of continued negotiations supervised by an experienced mediator; and negotiate an 7 all-cash settlement in a case where Defendants aggressively disputed every element 8 of Lead Plaintiffs’ claims and the potential for recovering nothing was stark. Lead 9 Counsel’s extensive efforts and skill led to the Settlement and strongly support the 10 requested fee percentage.

11 The quality of opposing counsel is also considered in evaluating the quality 12 of the work done by Lead Counsel. Rentech, 2019 WL 5173771, at *10 (“requested 13 fee” supported because “Lead Counsel faced a vigorous defense” from “a respected 14 national law firm”). Lead Counsel was opposed by skilled counsel from King & 15 Spalding LLC, an international law firm with twenty-two offices worldwide and a 16 well-deserved reputation for vigorous advocacy in the defense of complex civil cases 17 such as this. In the face of this opposition, Lead Counsel was able to develop their 18 case and secure a significant recovery for the Settlement Class, supporting Lead 19 Counsel’s fee request.

20 4. The Contingent Nature of the Representation and Financial 21 Burden Carried by Class Counsel Support the Requested
22 Fee

23 “The importance of assuring adequate representation for plaintiffs who could 24 not otherwise afford competent attorneys justifies providing those attorneys who do 25 accept matters on a contingent-fee basis a larger fee than if they were billing by the 26 hour or on a flat fee.” Rentech, 2019 WL 5173771, at *10; see also China Integrated 27 Energy, 2016 WL 11757878, at *11 (“The contingent nature of the representation 28 bears on the overall fairness and reasonableness of a fee request. ... The risk that

1 counsel will not recover, as well as the financial burden accompanying 2 the contingent nature of the representation, may justify a higher 3 percentage fee award.”).

4 Here, Lead Counsel undertook this Action on an entirely contingent basis and 5 prosecuted the claims with no guarantee of compensation or recovery of any 6 litigation expenses. See, e.g., In re Veeco Instruments Inc. Sec. Litig., 2007 WL 7 4115808, at *6 (S.D.N.Y. Nov. 7, 2007) (“There are numerous class actions in which 8 counsel expended thousands of hours and yet received no remuneration whatsoever 9 despite their diligence and expertise”). Although Lead Plaintiffs had been successful 10 at the motion to dismiss stage, the risks would only continue to threaten the viability 11 of the Action through class certification, summary judgment, trial and the inevitable 12 appeals. See, e.g., In re Oracle Corp. Sec. Litig., 2009 WL 1709050 (N.D. Cal. June 13 19, 2009), aff’d sub nom. In re Oracle Corp. Sec. Litig., 627 F.3d 376 (9th Cir. 2010)
14 (granting summary judgment to defendants after eight years of litigation); Murphy
15 v. Precision Castparts Corp., 2021 WL 2080016, at *5 (D. Or. May 24, 2021) 16 (granting summary judgment to defendants after more than five years of litigation in 17 light of new Ninth Circuit precedent, finding that plaintiffs failed to establish falsity 18 and loss causation); In re JDS Uniphase Corp. Sec. Litig., 2007 WL 4788556 (N.D.
19 Cal. Nov. 27, 2007) (jury returned a defense verdict after trial in securities fraud 20 class action, finding that defendants were not liable for securities fraud).

21 Unlike counsel for the Defendants, who were paid and reimbursed for their 22 expenses on a current basis, Lead Counsel have received no compensation for their 23 efforts during the course of the Action. Lead Counsel have invested 6,553.5 hours 24 of work equating to a total lodestar of $3,807,351.25, and advanced expenses of over 25 $100,000, knowing that if their efforts were not successful, no fees or expenses 26 would be paid. Substantial additional work in implementing the Settlement, claims 27 administration and distribution of Settlement funds will also be required.

28

1 At the time it brought this action, Lead Counsel understood that it was 2 embarking on a complex, expensive, and lengthy litigation process. In undertaking 3 this heavy responsibility, Lead Counsel were obligated to ensure that sufficient 4 attorney time and other human resources were dedicated to this prosecution, and that 5 funds were available to pay for the considerable expenses. Courts within the Ninth 6 Circuit have consistently recognized that the risk of receiving no recovery is a major 7 factor in considering an attorneys' fees award. See Rentech, 2019 WL 5173771, at 8 *10 (finding thousands of "hours of work with no compensation" and "facing the 9 real possibility of no recovery" supporting the requested fees).<sup>3</sup>

10 5. The Requested Fee Is Consistent With 11 Awards Made in Comparable Cases

12 The requested fee in comparison to the Settlement also supports the approval 13 of Lead Counsel's fee request. "The Ninth Circuit uses a 25% benchmark in 14 common fund class actions, and in most common fund cases, the award exceeds that 15 benchmark, with a 30% award the norm absent extraordinary circumstances that 16 suggest reasons to lower or increase the percentage." Allergan, 2018 WL 4959014, 17 at *1.<sup>4</sup> A 30% fee award is consistent with fees awarded in comparable securities 18 class action settlements with similar contingency fee risks. See In re Silver Wheaton 19 Corp. Sec. Litig., 2020 WL 4581642, at *4 (C.D. Cal. Aug. 6, 2020) (awarding 30% 20 of $41.5 million settlement); In re Banc of Cal. Sec. Litig., 2020 WL 1283486, at *1

21 <sup>3</sup> Moreover, if this were a non-representative litigation, the customary fee 22 arrangement would be contingent, on a percentage basis, and in the range of 30% to 23 40% of the recovery. See Blum, 465 U.S. at 903 ("In tort suits, an attorney might 24 receive one third of whatever amount the Plaintiff recovers. In those cases, 25 therefore, the fee is directly proportional to the recovery."); Katz v. China Century
26 Dragon Media, Inc., 2013 WL 11237202, at *8 (C.D. Cal. Oct. 10, 2013) 27 ("[C]ontingency fee arrangements generally range from 30% to 40% of final 28 recovery.").

29 <sup>4</sup> Indeed, "in most common fund cases, the award exceeds that [25%] benchmark."

32 2021) ("Empirical studies show that, regardless whether the percentage method or 33 the lodestar method is used, fee awards in class actions average around one-third of 34 the recovery").

1 (C.D. Cal. Mar. 16, 2020) (awarding 33% of $19.75 million settlement); Avila v.
2 LifeLock Inc., 2020 WL 4362394, at *1 (D. Ariz. July 27, 2020) (30% fee award of 3 $20 million settlement was “fair and reasonable”).

4 Fee awards of 30%, or more, have been awarded in numerous securities
5 settlements in district courts throughout the Ninth Circuit. See, e.g., Rentech, 2019
6 WL 5173771 at *9-11 (awarding fees in the amount of one-third of the settlement
7 fund); In re CytRx Corp. Sec. Litig., 2018 WL 8950655, at *1 (C.D. Cal. Sept. 17, 8 2018) (awarding fees in the amount of 30% of the settlement fund); In re K12 Inc.
9 Sec. Litig., 2019 WL 3766420, at *1 (N.D. Cal. July 10, 2019) (awarding 33% of the 10 settlement fund); In re Apollo Grp. Inc. Sec. Litig., 2012 WL 1378677, at *7 (D.
11 Ariz. Apr. 20, 2012) (awarding a fee of 33.33% of the settlement); In re Heritage 12 Bond Litig., 2005 WL 1594403, at *19 (C.D. Cal. June 10, 2005) (awarding a fee of 13 33 1/3% of the settlement, and collecting cases awarding similar fees). Accordingly, 14 Lead Counsel’s fee request is in line with other comparable cases and should be 15 approved.

16 Moreover, a review of fee decisions in other federal jurisdictions in securities 17 class actions with comparable settlements also shows that an award of 30% is 18 reasonable. See, e.g., In re Perrigo Co. PLC Sec. Litig., 2022 WL 500913, at *1 19 (S.D.N.Y. Feb. 18, 2022) (awarding a one-third fee on $31.9 million settlement);
20 Peace Officers’ Annuity & Benefit Fund of Georgia v. DaVita Inc., 2021 WL
21 2981970, at *4 (D. Colo. July 15, 2021) (30% of the $135 million common fund 22 “reflects a reasonable attorney fee award”); Plymouth County Ret. Sys. v. GTT 23 Communications, Inc., 2021 WL 1659848, at *5 (E.D. Va. Apr. 23, 2021) (awarding 24 one-third fee on $25 million settlement); In re BHP Billiton Ltd. Sec. Litig., 2019 25 WL 1577313, at *1 (S.D.N.Y. Apr. 10, 2019) (awarding 30% of $50 million 26 settlement amount); In re Rayonier Inc. Sec. Litig., 2017 WL 4542852, at *3 (M.D.
27 Fla. Oct. 5, 2017) (awarding attorneys’ fees in the amount of 30% of $73 million 28

1 settlement).

2 Accordingly, Lead Counsel requests a fee of 30%—i.e., the “norm” in 3 common fund class action settlements. The fee request is squarely within the range 4 of percentage fees that courts in this Circuit and nationwide award in similar 5 complex class action settlements, and is highly reasonable given the favorable result 6 achieved for the Settlement Class. See Turocy v. El Pollo Loco Holdings, Inc., No.
7 8:15-cv-01343-DOC-KES, slip op. at ¶ 4 (C.D. Cal. Aug. 27, 2019) (awarding 30% 8 of $20 million settlement and requested costs) (Carter, J.).

9 6. The Reaction of the Settlement Class

10 Courts in the Ninth Circuit also consider the reaction of the class when 11 deciding whether to award the requested fee. See Rentech, 2019 WL 5173771, at 12 *10 (“no objections . . . supports granting the requested fees”); China Integrated 13 Energy, 2016 WL 11757878, at *12 (“reaction of the class is relevant in determining 14 the overall fairness and reasonableness of an award of attorneys’ fees.”).

15 The Notice advised Settlement Class Members that Lead Counsel would be 16 requesting an award of attorneys’ fees not to exceed 30% of the Settlement Fund and 17 payment of Litigation Expenses in an amount not to exceed $250,000. As of this 18 filing, no objection has been received.

19 Furthermore, Lead Plaintiffs are sophisticated fiduciaries that collectively
20 manage over $3 billion in assets and who were closely involved in the prosecution 21 and settlement of the Action. Lead Plaintiffs support the fee request, which further 22 strongly supports approval. See In re Signet Jewelers Ltd. Sec. Litig., 2020 WL 23 4196468, at *17 (S.D.N.Y. July 21, 2020) (“Because the requested fee is based on 24 an agreement that Lead Counsel entered into with the sophisticated institutional 25 Lead Plaintiff at the outset of the litigation, the fee is presumptively reasonable”); 26 Veeco, 2007 WL 4115808, at *8 (“Since passage of the PSLRA, courts [] have found 27 that in a PSLRA case, a fee request which has been approved and endorsed by a 28

1 properly-appointed lead plaintiff is ‘presumptively reasonable,’ especially where the 2 lead plaintiff is a sophisticated institutional investor.’”).

3 7. A Lodestar Cross-Check Confirms the 4 Requested Fee Is Reasonable

5 As discussed above, the percentage-of-recovery approach is widely favored 6 within the Ninth Circuit. See supra at Section II.A. The reasonableness of a 7 percentage fee may be confirmed, or “cross-checked,” using the lodestar-multiplier 8 method. See Vizcaino, 290 F.3d at 1050 n.5. In conducting a lodestar cross-check, 9 the court engages in a two-step analysis. First, the court multiplies the number of 10 hours each attorney spent on the case by the reasonable hourly rate to obtain the 11 lodestar. Pennsylvania v. Delaware Valley Citizens’ Council for Clean Air, 478 U.S.
12 546, 564 (1986). Second, the court adjusts that lodestar figure (by applying a 13 multiplier) to reflect such factors as the risk and contingent nature of the litigation, 14 the result obtained and the quality of the attorneys’ work. Staton v. Boeing Co., 327
15 F.3d 938, 967-68 (9th Cir. 2003). Here, utilizing the lodestar cross-check method 16 amply confirms the reasonableness of Lead Counsel’s requested fees.

17 Lead Counsel have collectively spent 6,553.5 hours in connection with the 18 Action, resulting in a total lodestar of $3,807,351.25.<sup>5</sup> The 30% fee requested 19 represents a fee of $5,475,000 (plus interest). Thus, the fee request represents a 20 multiplier of 1.4 of Lead Counsel’s lodestar, which is on the low end of the typical 21 lodestar multipliers commonly awarded. See Vizcaino, 290 F.3d at 1052-54 22 (concluding that multipliers most commonly fall range from 1.0 to 4.0 and affirming 23 fee representing a 3.65 multiplier); van Wingerden v. Cadiz, Inc., 2017 WL 5565263, 24 at *13 (C.D. Cal. Feb. 8, 2017) (“[m]ultipliers in the 3–4 range are common in

5 (“the majority of fee awards in the district courts in the Ninth Circuit are 1.5 to 3 6 times higher than lodestar”); In re IsoRay, Inc. Sec. Litig., 2017 WL 11461073, at 7 *1 (E.D. Wash. Mar. 7, 2017) (30% fee award in securities class action was 8 reasonable where lodestar multiplier was 1.48 or 1.77).<sup>6</sup>

9 In sum, Lead Counsel’s requested fee award is reasonable, justified, and in 10 line with what courts in this Circuit award in class actions such as this one, whether 11 calculated as a percentage of the fund or as a multiple of counsel’s lodestar. As 12 discussed above, each of the factors considered by courts in the Ninth Circuit also 13 strongly supports the reasonableness of the requested fee.<sup>7</sup>

14 III. LEAD COUNSEL’S LITIGATION EXPENSES ARE REASONABLE

15 “Attorneys may recover their reasonable expenses that would typically be 16 billed to paying clients in non-contingency matters.” Rentech, 2019 WL 5173771, 17 at *11. The Notice apprised Settlement Class Members that Lead Counsel would

---

19 <sup>6</sup> “Courts may find hourly rates reasonable based on evidence of other courts 20 approving similar rates or other attorneys engaged in similar litigation charging 21 similar rates.” Parkinson v. Hyundai Motor Am., 796 F. Supp. 2d 1160, 1172 (C.D.
22 Cal. 2010). Here, Plaintiff’s Counsel’s rates are consistent with other attorneys 23 engaged in similar litigation and of comparable ability and reputation. See, e.g., 24 Hefler, 2018 WL 6619983, at *14 (in securities class action settled in 2018, finding 25 rates ranging “from $650 to $1,250 for partners or senior counsel, from $400 to $650 26 for associates, and from $245 to $350 for paralegals” to be reasonable); In re
27 Volkswagen “Clean Diesel” Mktg., Sales Practices, & Prods. Liab. Litig., 2017 WL 28 1047834, at *5 (N.D. Cal. Mar. 17, 2017) (approving fee award following lodestar cross-check where “billing rates rang[ed] from $275 to $1600 for partners, $150 to $790 for associates, and $80 to $490 for paralegals”).

Moreover, the lodestar does not include time for additional services to be provided by Lead Counsel to the Settlement Class, including attending the final settlement hearing, responding to Settlement Class Members inquiries, supervising the Claims Administrator in the review and processing of claims, preparing and filing a motion for distribution of the Settlement funds, and overseeing the distribution of checks to Settlement Class Members.

1 seek expenses in an amount not to exceed $250,000. Lead Counsel have incurred 2 expenses in an aggregate amount of $104,686.68 in prosecuting this Action.

3 These expenses are set forth in the declarations from counsel submitted to the 4 Court and are of the type generally approved by courts for reimbursement. Joint 5 Decl. Exs. D and E. Counsel’s declarations itemize the various categories of 6 expenses incurred and state that these expenses were reasonable and necessary to 7 prosecuting the claims and achieving the Settlement. See China Integrated Energy, 8 2016 WL 11757878, at *13. Lead Counsel’s expenses include the costs of 9 conducting Lead Plaintiffs’ investigation, computerized research, document 10 database management for discovery, hiring experts, and mail and delivery charges, 11 among other things, all of which are properly chargeable to the Settlement fund. The 12 categories of expenses are consistent with costs normally billed to clients by 13 attorneys, warranting approval. See Thomas v. MagnaChip Semiconductor Corp., 14 2018 WL 2234598, at *4 (N.D. Cal. May 15, 2018) (“[C]ourts throughout the Ninth 15 Circuit regularly award litigation costs and expenses—including photocopying, 16 printing, postage, court costs, research on online databases, experts and consultants, 17 and reasonable travel expenses—in securities class actions, as attorneys routinely 18 bill private clients for such expenses in non-contingent litigation.”); Todd v. STAAR 19 Surgical Co., 2017 WL 4877417, at *5 (C.D. Cal. Oct. 24, 2017) (approving 20 reimbursement of expenses for “experts and consultants,” “mediation fees,” and 21 “necessary travel, filing fees, investigator fees, and document storage and 22 maintenance fees”); China Integrated Energy, 2016 WL 11757878, at *13 23 (“frequently reimbursed costs include travel, mediation fees, photocopying, private 24 investigator ..., and delivery and mail charges”).

25 IV. THE PSLRA AWARD REQUESTS ARE REASONABLE

26 The PSLRA authorizes the Court to allow reimbursement to a representative 27 plaintiff for its “reasonable costs and expenses (including lost wages) directly 28

1 relating to the representation of the class to any representative party serving on 2 behalf of a class.” See Regulus Therapeutics Inc., 2020 WL 6381898, at *8. As 3 detailed in the Joint Declaration, Sims Declaration, and Mack Declaration, Lead 4 Plaintiffs expended time and effort in representing the best interests of the Settlement 5 Class in this Action, including the review of all pleadings and filings in this action, 6 regular communications with Lead Counsel concerning the developments therein, 7 and supervision of and participation in the settlement process.

8       Lead Plaintiffs the Atlanta Funds and Baton Rouge seek $5,500 and 9 $3,392.01, respectively, for the time and effort they devoted to participation in and 10 supervision of the Action. Courts have noted that it is important to reimburse time 11 and expenses of class representatives because doing so “encourages participation of 12 plaintiffs in the active supervision of their counsel.” Varljen v. H.J. Meyers & Co., 13 2000 WL 1683656, at *5 n.2 (S.D.N.Y. Nov. 8, 2000). A long line of cases holds 14 that expenses and time spent by lead plaintiffs in managing the case are properly 15 reimbursable and consistent with the PSLRA’s objective to encourage institutional 16 investors to actively lead securities class actions. See, e.g., STAAR Surgical Co., 17 2017 WL 4877417, at *6 ($10,000 award for the “significant time and effort Lead 18 Plaintiff expended to support this litigation,” “including reviewing and commenting 19 on the complaints and significant briefs, and communicating with counsel to oversee 20 the litigation”); In re Immune Response Sec. Litig., 497 F. Supp. 2d 1166, 1173-74
21 (S.D. Cal. 2007) ($40,000 reimbursement to lead plaintiff). Here, Lead Plaintiffs 22 are seeking reimbursement for the reasonable value of the time their employees 23 devoted to the Action, including by communicating with Lead Counsel, reviewing 24 pleadings, and participating in the mediation process and settlement negotiations, as 25 well as, for Baton Rouge, the work of its outside general counsel. See Exs. A and B 26 to Joint Decl. (Sims Declaration at ¶¶ 13-14, Mack Declaration at ¶¶ 11-12).
